PRESS RELEASE

BATTCON 2010, the world's leading stationary storage battery conference, will be held in Hollywood, Florida from May 17 to 19, 2010. This well-established, user oriented, three day event, now in its 14th year, draws over 450 international participants from power companies, telephone companies, and UPS manufacturers.

The focus of the conference is the application of storage battery power systems and the issues many users have with such systems. The conference features technical presentations by industry specialists, open forum discussions led by experienced facilitators, and industry specific breakout workshops. A two evening trade show is also part of the conference.
